Dear Speaker Pelosi, Leader McConnell, Leader McCarthy, and Leader Schumer,

On behalf of the 59 undersigned organizations representing the Nursing Community Coalition (NCC), and as we near the end of the 116th Congress, we urge you to include the below priorities as you continue to address the COVID-19 pandemic and the growing impact it has on our communities and patients nationwide. The NCC is a cross section of education, practice, research, and regulation within the nursing profession representing Registered Nurses (RNs), Advanced Practice Registered Nurses (APRNs), nurse leaders, students, faculty, and researchers who have been on the frontlines during this public health crisis. With positive cases increasing and the mortality rate rising, and as we look ahead to a possible vaccine, we strongly request the following areas be included in the next COVID-19 relief package so our current and future nursing workforce can continue to respond to the public health challenge.

- Protect and Support Nurses and APRNs on the Frontlines: As we continue to address the safety and well-being of our frontline healthcare workforce, including nurses, it is essential that we not only ensure an adequate supply of PPE, but that we also compensate and support essential workers for their services. We urge you to:
 - Provide resources to support our nurses' mental health needs for those responding to this pandemic;
 - Institute safety measures for the current and future nursing workforce;
 - Include funding to ensure childcare coverage is available for individuals that need it, including our nurses.
- Increase Funding for Title VIII Nursing Workforce Development Programs: All Title VIII

programs are essential to meeting the current COVID-19 challenge and preparing future nursing workforce for the next health care emergency. Title VIII programs help to ensure the health and well being of all communities, especially in rural and underserved areas. Additional supplemental funding for Title VIII Nursing Workforce Development Programs, especially given these unprecedented times, is imperative.

- Support Nursing Education Infrastructure: Pass the Future Advancement of Academic Nursing (FAAN) Act (S.4396/H.R.7945): As higher education institutions continue to combat the realities of COVID-19 and as students continue the fall semester, nursing education remains a top priority. Past COVID legislation has already illustrated support for health professions' education and we strongly encourage similar investments for nursing education by including the FAAN Act (S.4396/H.R.7945) in the next stimulus package. It is essential that federal investments are made to support nursing students and faculty so the education pathway remains strong and nurses can continue to be on the frontlines of current and future public health challenges.
- Strengthen Investments in Public Health: Since 2008, the local public health departments alone have lost more than 55,000 public health jobs, which include nurses.² This drastic shortage of public health professionals has been brought into stark relief during the current crisis. We must not only provide an immediate injection of funding to bolster the public health nursing workforce, but long-term investments in a national public health service pipeline of nurses and other health care professionals.
- Invest in Nursing Research: The National Institute of Nursing Research (NINR) provides critical support to nurse scientists and is foundational to evidence-based nursing care.
 We ask that any future legislation includes additional funding to support the National Institutes of Health and NINR.
- Promote Access to Telehealth: Increased flexibility in telehealth access has been an essential component of providing care on the frontlines and will continue to be integral to clinicians after this public health emergency. We encourage any future legislation to include telehealth provisions that:
 - Address geographic limitations and remove originating site restrictions so that patients can receive telehealth in their homes;
 - Remove the limitation on the number of telehealth services Medicare providers can deliver;
 - o Increase coverage and reimbursement for audio-only telehealth services; and
 - Expand telehealth to previously uncovered services and visits when the clinician determines that it is clinically appropriate.

We urge Congress to include these shared priorities in any COVID-19 legislative packages. Supporting nursing education, research, and the workforce is imperative to the health of our nation now and into the future. If the Nursing Community Coalition can be of any assistance to you or your staff, please do not hesitate to contact the coalition's Executive Director, Rachel Stevenson, at rstevenson@thenursingcommunity.org or at 202-463-6930, ext. 271.

Sincerely,
